Walking the Jurassic Coast

95 miles of great coastline, with quaint villages and good terrain underfoot, but beware!

It is there to be enjoyed and being too ambitious can really spoil your holiday as the ascents and descents can take it out of you quickly and spoil the fun.

Ensure you allow plenty of time between your accommodation stops as any spare time can be spent relaxing and enjoying the villages and attractions at the end of the day rather than struggling to get to your destination!

Of course, put in some challenging days if you wish but spread them amongst some less-strenuous days as there is so much to see and do along the coast – Lyme Regis, Abbotsbury, Weymouth, Lulworth Cove and Swanage to name just a few of the well known places that you can stop at during, or at the end of the day.

However, places such as Beer, West Bay, Burton Bradstock, Charmouth, Tyneham, Kimmeridge and Worth Matravers have much to offer if you can find the time.

If you have any questions, please get in touch and we will advise and help wherever we can.
